that a committee of three, composed of himself, Mr. Patterson and Mr. Secardi, had been appointed by the organization to arrange with the regulars.

Everybody at Democratic headquarters in Brooklyn this morning seemed satisfied with the decision of the Executive Committee, Mr. Bell, however, is still in favor of harmony, even with concessions and sacrifice of candidates.

William B. Davenport, the Public Administrator, was notified this morning that he had been selected to succeed George Kinkel as nominee for Comptroller. It is understood that Mr. Davenport will accept the nomination. He is a popular lawyer, and was recently appointed Administrator for a second term. The last appeal of the Shepard organization was made by Charles J. Patterson in a letter to Mr. Bell, issued this morning.

The letter aliuded to the radical differences on city and county nominations that exist between the two factions. It then mentions the importance of the Congressional campaign and expresses a willingness to confer with the object of rea fing a compromise Lepn one candidate for each Congressional district in Kings County. Such a conference, it explains, can be brought about by a few hours' notice.

Gleason's ticket included all regular Democratic candidates, with the exception of Mitchell for Sheriff, for whose name that of Henry Doht, the Republican candidate, was substituted. Mitchell claims that Gleason held no convention and that his tloket is illegal. Mitchell says the alleged convention of Gleason's party consisted of two of his trolley line conductors, ex-policeman Timothy White and ex-City Clerk Burke. Corporation Camsel Stewart said that Mitchell had not been notified that the case was to come up in court to-day and at his request an adjournment until temorrow was granted.

the Court of Appeals.

(By Associated Press.)
ALBANY, Oct. 23.—The Court of Apeals to-day reversed the judgment and granted a new trial to Benjamin Van Zile, convicted of performing a criminal operation on Lillie McCook, of Brook-lyn.

Van Zile was convicted of performing a criminal operation upon Lillie S. Cook, of Brooklyn, on Dec. 9, 1889, from which she died on Christmas Day, After the girl died Van Zile fiel from the city, and, it is said, went to Australia. He returned several months later and gave himself up.

the said, went to Australia. He fer turned several months later and gave himself up.

The girl was employed in Liebmann Bros.' dry-goods store, on Fulton street. She had fallen in love with Howard Ter-rell, and the attachment ripened into in-timacy. It was he who had procured the operation to be performed which resulted in 'he girl's death.

Ferrell was captured soon after and sent to the Elmira Reformatory. Dr. Van Zile, however, was not tried until February, 1893, when, after many de-lays, his case was finally brought be-fore a jury and he was convicted of manslaughter.

He was sentenced in the Brooklyn Court of Oyer and Terminer on Febru-ary 8, 1893 to serve three years and four months in the Kings County Peni-tentiary.

Work in Brooklyn. Central Office detectives were de-tailed by Supt. Campbell, of Brooklyn, to-day to attend the fair at the Thir-Regiment armory, at Sumner and Jefferson avenues, to look out for a gang which is engaged in passing counterfeit money. The fair, which was opened last night, and will continue during the afternoon and evening each day until next Saturday night, is given for the purpose of raising money to furnish the quarters of the various companies. The booths are in charge of women, and the counterfeiters took advantage of this fact to dispose of their spurious money. Just before the fair closed last night one of the young women found a counterfeit $2 silver certificate in the cash box. The fact was reported to the chairman, and inquiries at the stands disclosed that three other bills had been received. They are counterfeits of the Hancock Issue, and bear a portrait of that famous soldier.

charges that he had stolen cobblestones belonging to the city.

Hart also makes the remarkable allegation that the city owes him money. Commissioner White says he recently diacovered that Hart, white building iffty miles of trolley railroad tracks for P. H. Flynn, had carted off all the cobble-stones and block pavement that had been removed to make way for the tracks of the roads.

Engineers were put to work to compute the value of the missing stones, and that work is still progressing, Commissioner White has learned that for years contractors have been system attainly robbing the city out of thousands of dollars annually by carting off the paving stones where they were grading the streets.

Hart admits that he took the stones, the says, however, that all the streets where he had worked were left in good condition.

'In all my experience as a contractor, says Hart, "I have never known of a single instance in which the contraction was required to cart to the corporation was required to cart to the corporation yard any stones that remained over after the streets had been placed in good condition as they were when he tore up the pavement."

Hart says in many instances he was compelled to furnish stones for the city.

"I can establish the fact," he said. "The Judgment of the Irish funds in Paris, and the work of the full of the 48,000 the sum of 10,000 will be handed over to Mr. John Redmond and deposited in the now empty exchaquer of the Parnellite party. "It would be a mistake to assume however, that the whole of the 10,000 can be applied to the propagation of Parnellite principles in Ireland. Before and for some time after the death of Mr. Parnell debts to a considerable amount had to be incurred, and one of the terms of the compromise is that these debts are to be discharged. "The Parnellite members are more than pleased that this burden is to be removed from their shoulders.
